TRAVELING

Twinomugisha never left his home for any town. Every one , he went to graze his father's cattle.

One day, as he was grazing the herd with his brother Omaisoi, a speeding vehicle passed by. It stopped near them.

'Good morning!' two well - dressed men said. They introduced themselves as Jacob and Sulaiman.

In the car, there were women dressed like Muslims while others carried Bibles. They asked for the king's palace which was further north.

The king's palace is about a hundred kilometres from here. 'It will take you about an hour to reach there,' he told them. They requested him to guide them.

He agreed to take them to their destination and asked Omaisoi to take care of the herd.

The group got into the vehicle with Twinomugisha as their guide. "What a comfortable seat!" said Twinomugisha as he sat next to the conductor.

He could not fasten his seat belt but his good friends helped him. He had never travelled in a taxi before. They passed tall trees and hilly places , and then arrived at a dry place with no grass. 'STOP! STOP!' one of the passengers shouted. He had reached his destination.

'Please pay the fare before the taxi stops,' said the conductor. The passenger gave one thousand shillings to the conductor. They didn't issue tickets because it was a taxi and not a bus, train or aeroplane.

Twinomugisha almost forgot his task when he saw a coach headed to Kampala. Its engine roared more than the taxi's. He wondered where all those passengers going to. They soon arrived at the king's palace.
